Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a metal-oxide semiconductor field-effect transistor (MOSFET), particularly to a metal-oxide semiconductor field-effect transistor, which is capable of reducing the electric field at its gate oxide layer at its source and drain regions by utilizing an electric field relaxation effect at the source and drain regions. 2. Description of the Related Art FIG. 4 shows a cross sectional view of a conventional MOSFET. In FIG. 4, a region in which a source 101 and a drain 102 are formed is isolated by a field oxide layer 103 from a region in which a gate electrode 104 is formed. An impurity diffusion layer 103a is formed in the surface of the region, which is isolated by the field oxide layer 103, in which the source 101 and the drain 102 are formed. The field oxide layer 103 is provided as a protective layer for preventing intrusion of an impurity from the diffusion layer 103a into the source 101 and the drain 102, and the impurity diffusion layer 103a is formed as an ohmic source and drain region. In general, the field oxide layer 103 is formed through a thermal oxidation process after the formation of a pad oxide film 103b on the silicon substrate 100. Thus, it is possible that an oxygen defect is produced in the interface between the pad oxide film 103b and the silicon substrate 100 to reduce the reliability of the structure of the MOSFET. In addition, the field oxide layer 103 is formed after the formation of the diffusion layer 103a, which is the source and drain regions. Therefore, it takes a long time to form the field oxide layer 103.An organized and hostile campaign to end the long-standing tradition of a Santa Claus has been launched in Germany in what could be the country's first hate campaign against non-believers. The Alliance Against Religion Abuse (AO), which is made up of small right-wing groups, has launched the campaign in the northern city of Düsseldorf after receiving thousands of signatures for an online petition. The aim of the campaign is to make Christmas a "traditional family event" only for Christian families, and
