Load the driver package from the Device Manager menu. This allows you to use it even after a new driver version has been released. Open the Device Manager and search for an unknown device. Right-click on the device you found, select Properties, and then click on the Driver tab. Click the Update button. You will then be presented with several options: Find in the Windows Update Center. This means that the driver is already installed, but not in the right format for your system.
